PRISCO® SES 2880 Web Release Emulsion

Product Description: Prisco® SES 2880 is a fully-formulated release emulsion offering extreme cost-effective performance in high volume applications. Prisco SES 2880 offers good durability and anti-marking, with an additive that allows good coverage and retention over the web rollers. Further, SES 2880 offers superior stability under shear, and will perform admirably in challenging environments, such as when used with hard water. SES 2880 is designed especially for large volume users, who rely critically on consistent performance, low dosing, and low cost.

Advantages:

- Uniquely robust upon dilution
- Controls bio-growth in the print production environment
- Creates very stable end products that offer better performance
- Helps maintain a consistent web over time while minimizing build-up on the rollers.

Directions: Flush out the blending and recirculation system with water prior to installing SES 2880. This silicone emulsion works at a range of 4-5 ounces per gallon (3.0% - 3.8%) of water. New users should start by mixing 3% [4 ounces per gallon] with water and then adjust the mixing ratio as needed to produce the desired working results.
